

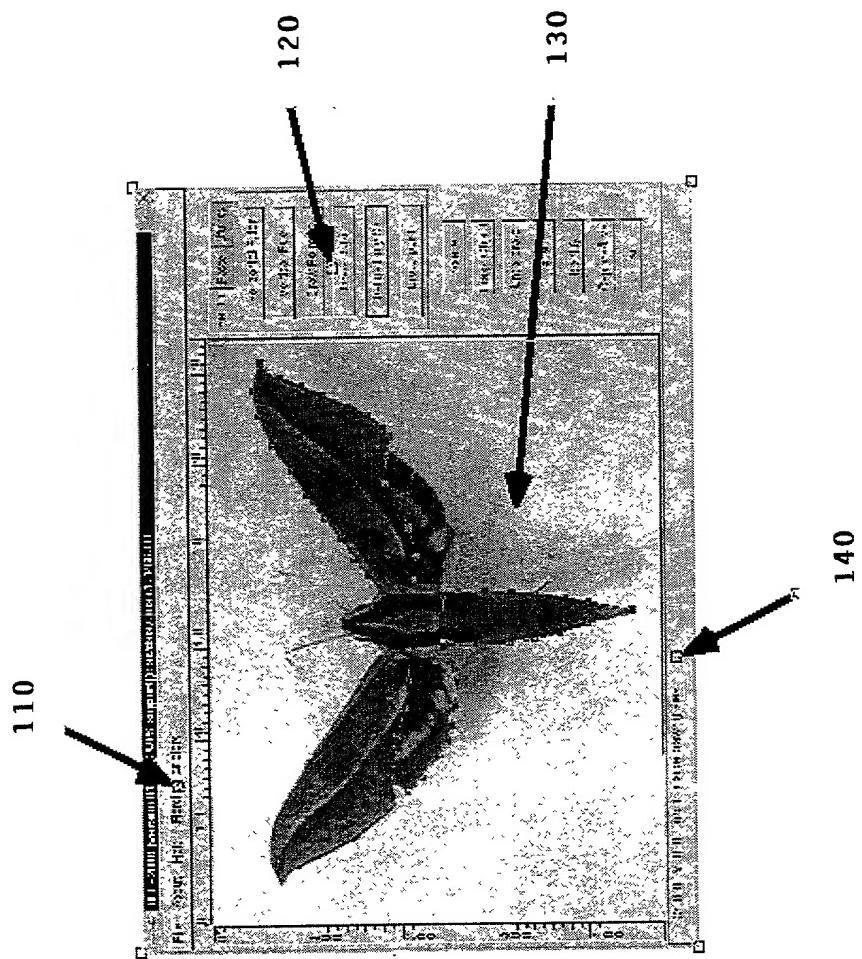

Figure 1

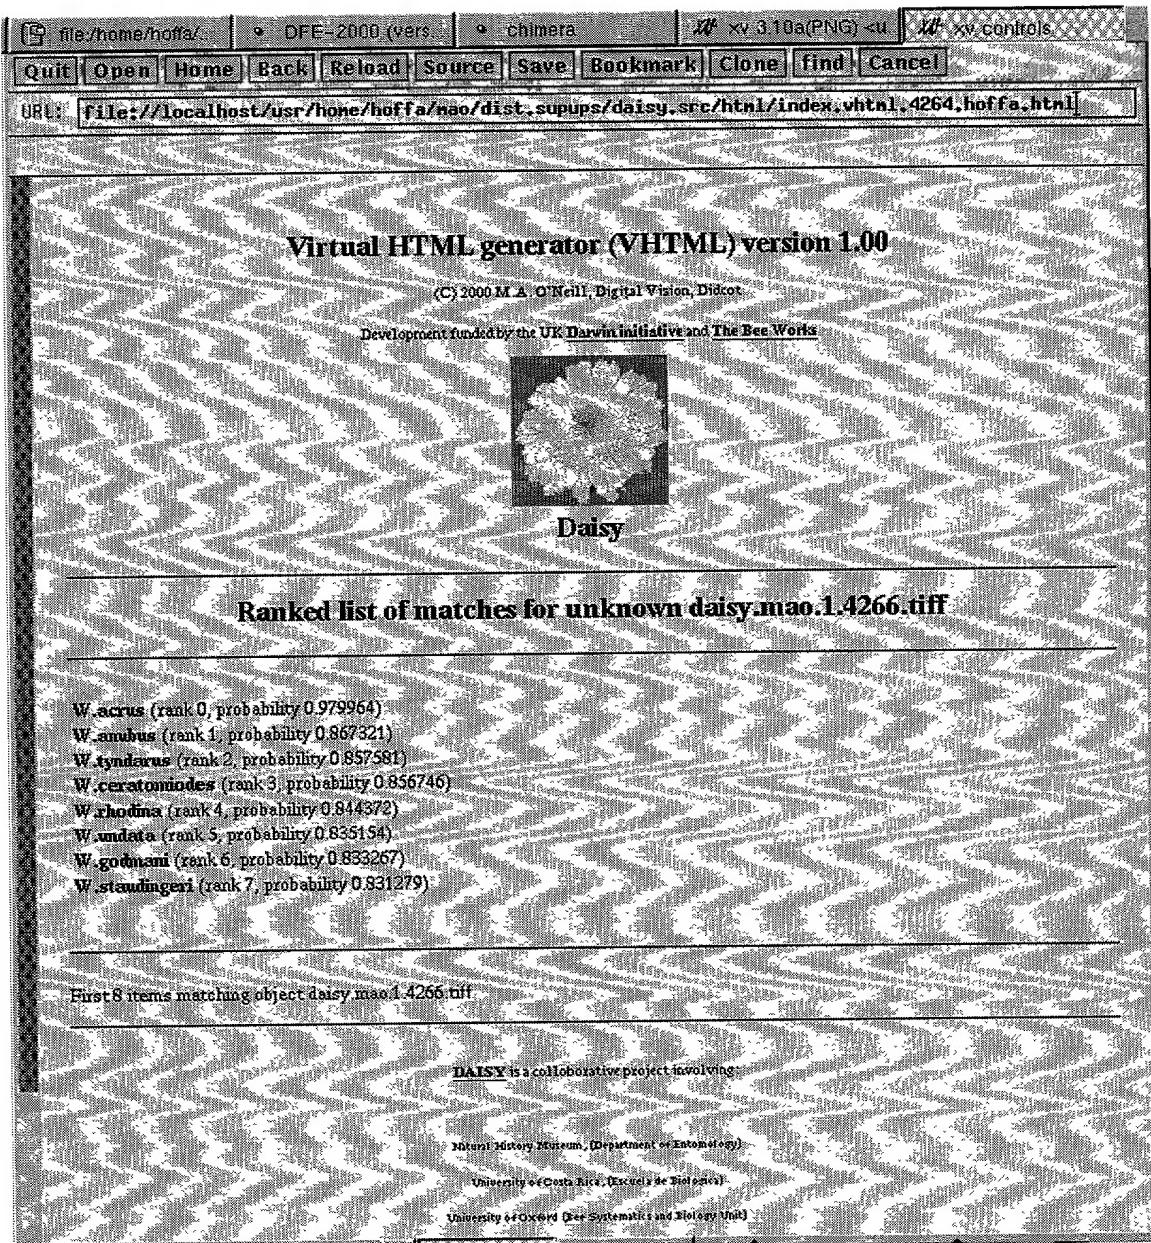

Figure 2

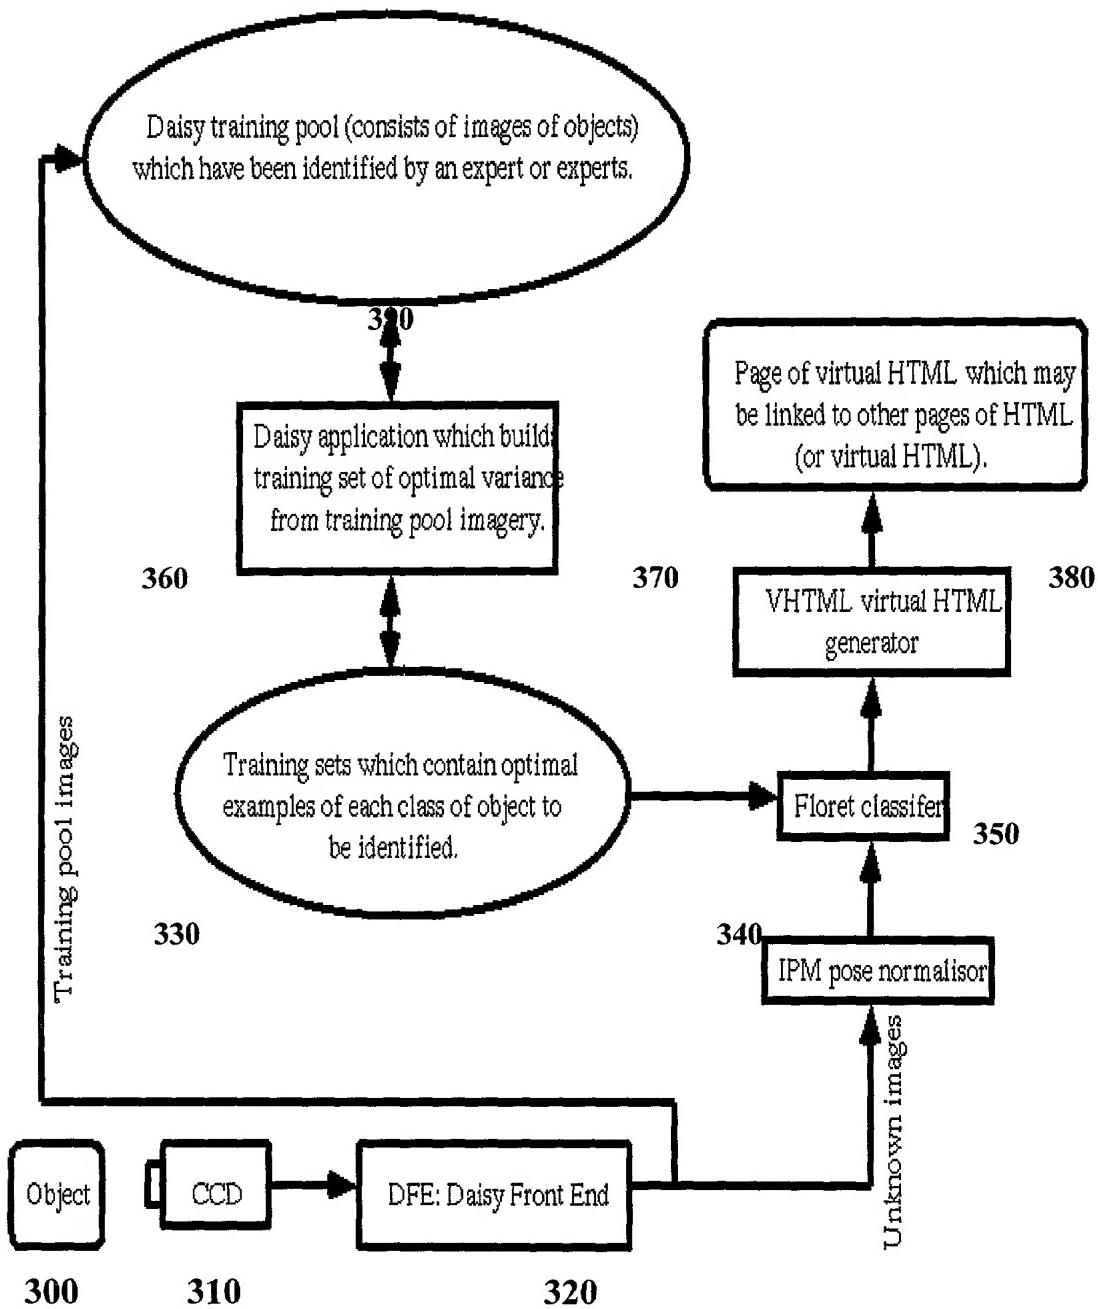

Figure 3

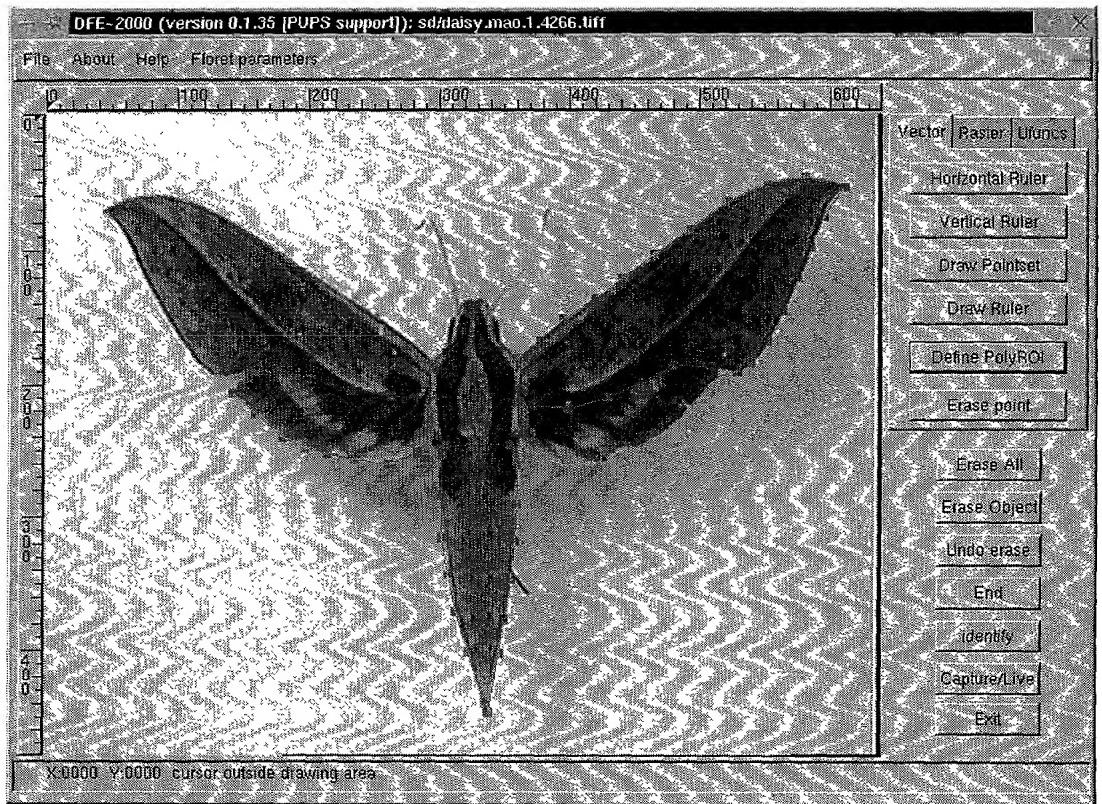

Figure 4

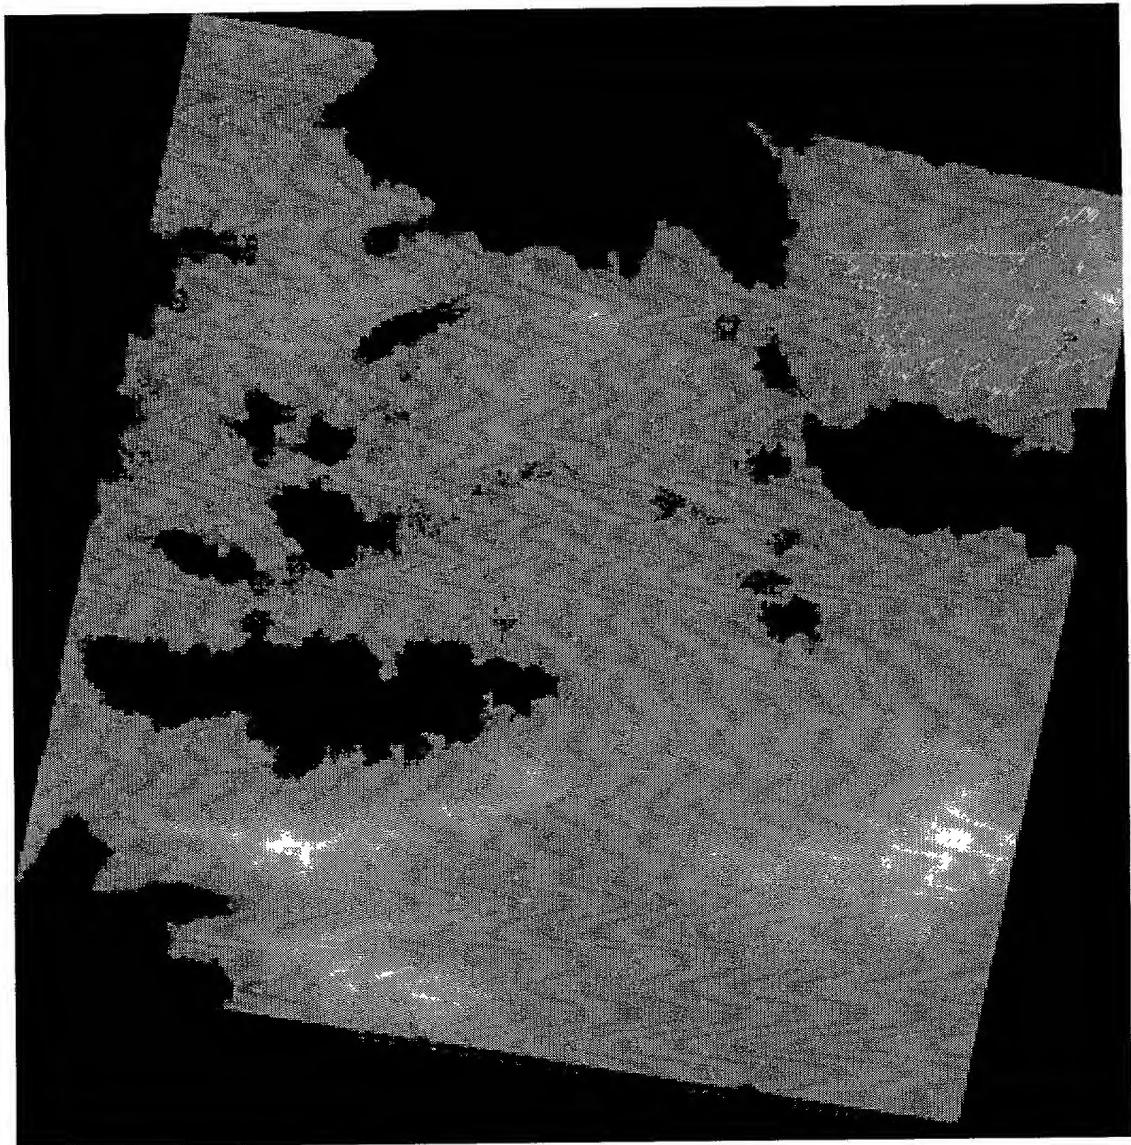

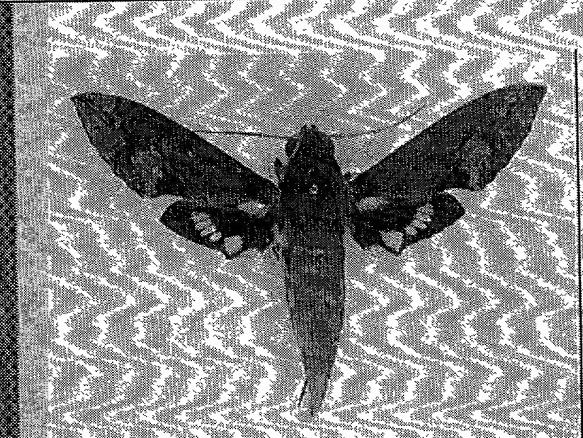

Figure 5

chimera

Quit Open Home Back Reload Source Save Bookmark Clone Find Cancel

URI: file:///localhost/hone/lanaire/nao/dist.supups/daisu/src/html/H.chiron.html

Martinique, La Trinité, Presquile de la Caravelle, 29.VIII.84

Xylophanes chiron (Drury 1770)

ssp. lucianus (Rothschild & Jordan 1906)

Sphingidae Macroglossinae

Biology and distribution

Larva on Rubiaceae from hygrophilic zones (Palicourea, Psychotria, Spermacoce)

Very common in Guadeloupe and Martinique in hygrophilic and mesophilic zones. The most abundant hawk-moth in Guadeloupe.

St-Kitts
Throughout the Lesser Antilles (not in dry islands).
Greater Antilles: X. chiron chiron (Drury 1770).

From Mexico to Argentina: X. chiron neocles (Graener 1779).

Similar species

Figure 6

Figure 7

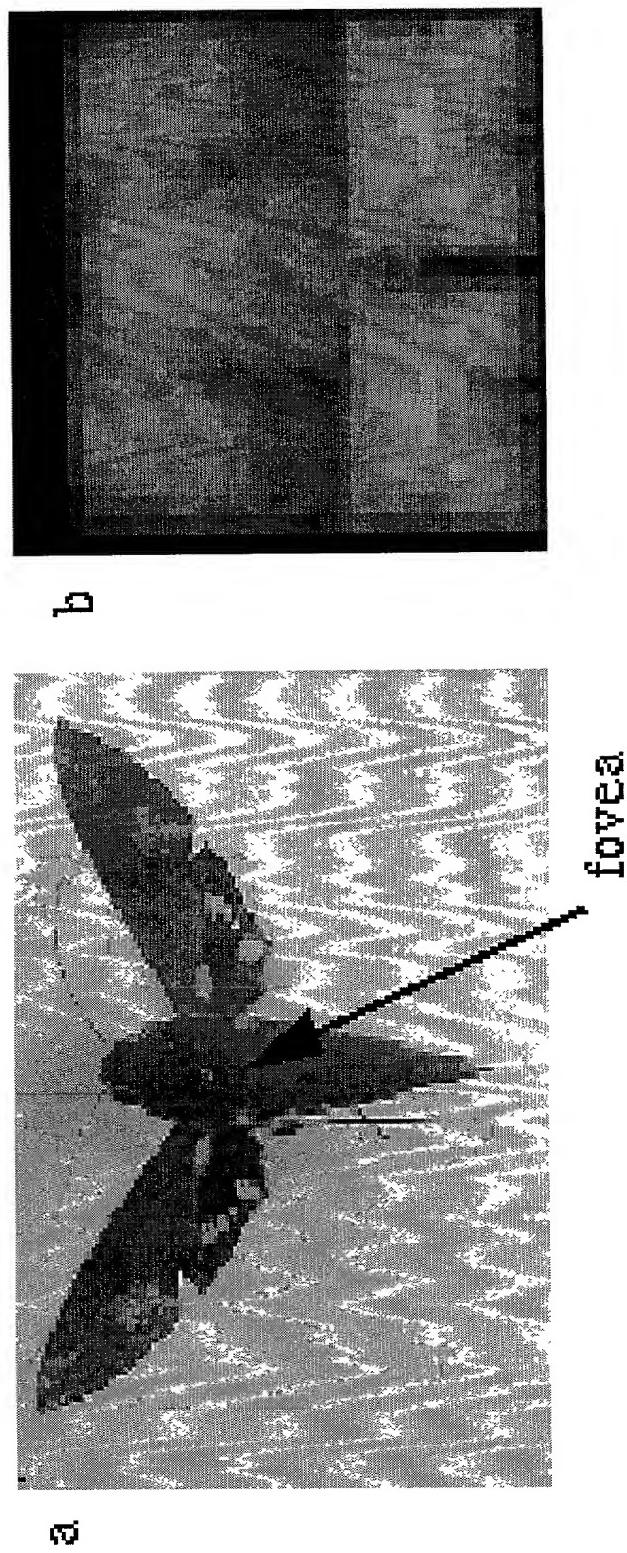

Figure 8

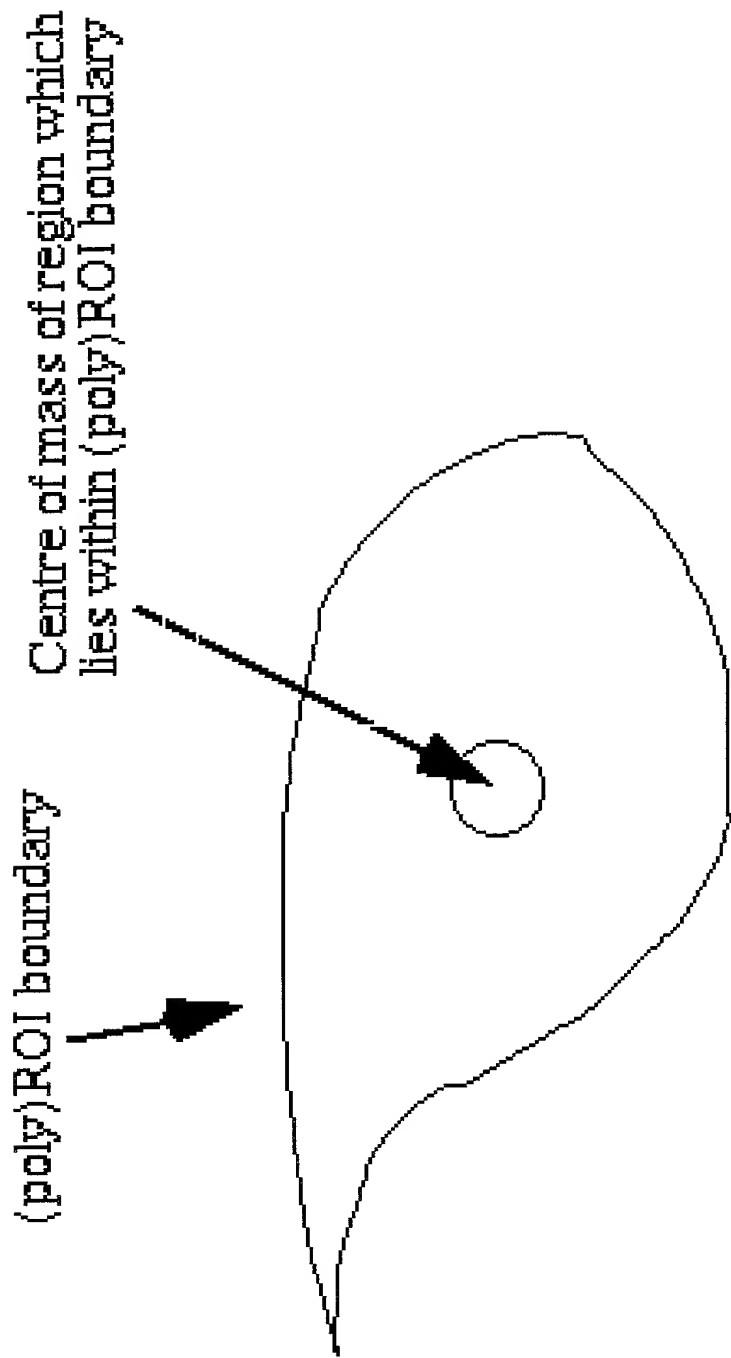

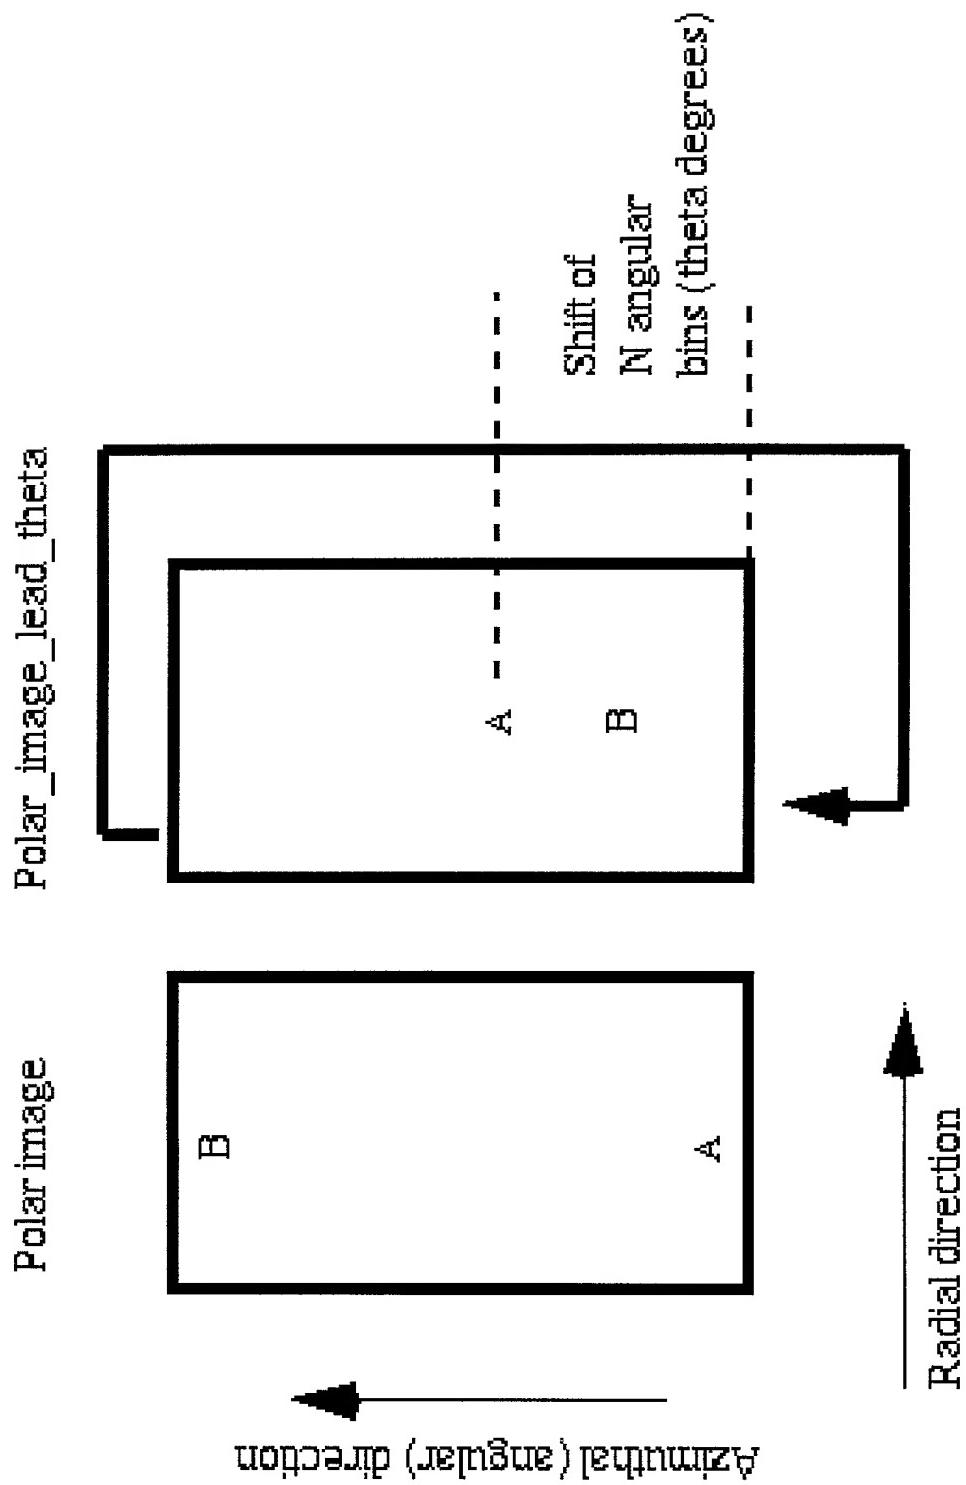

Figure 9

Figure 10

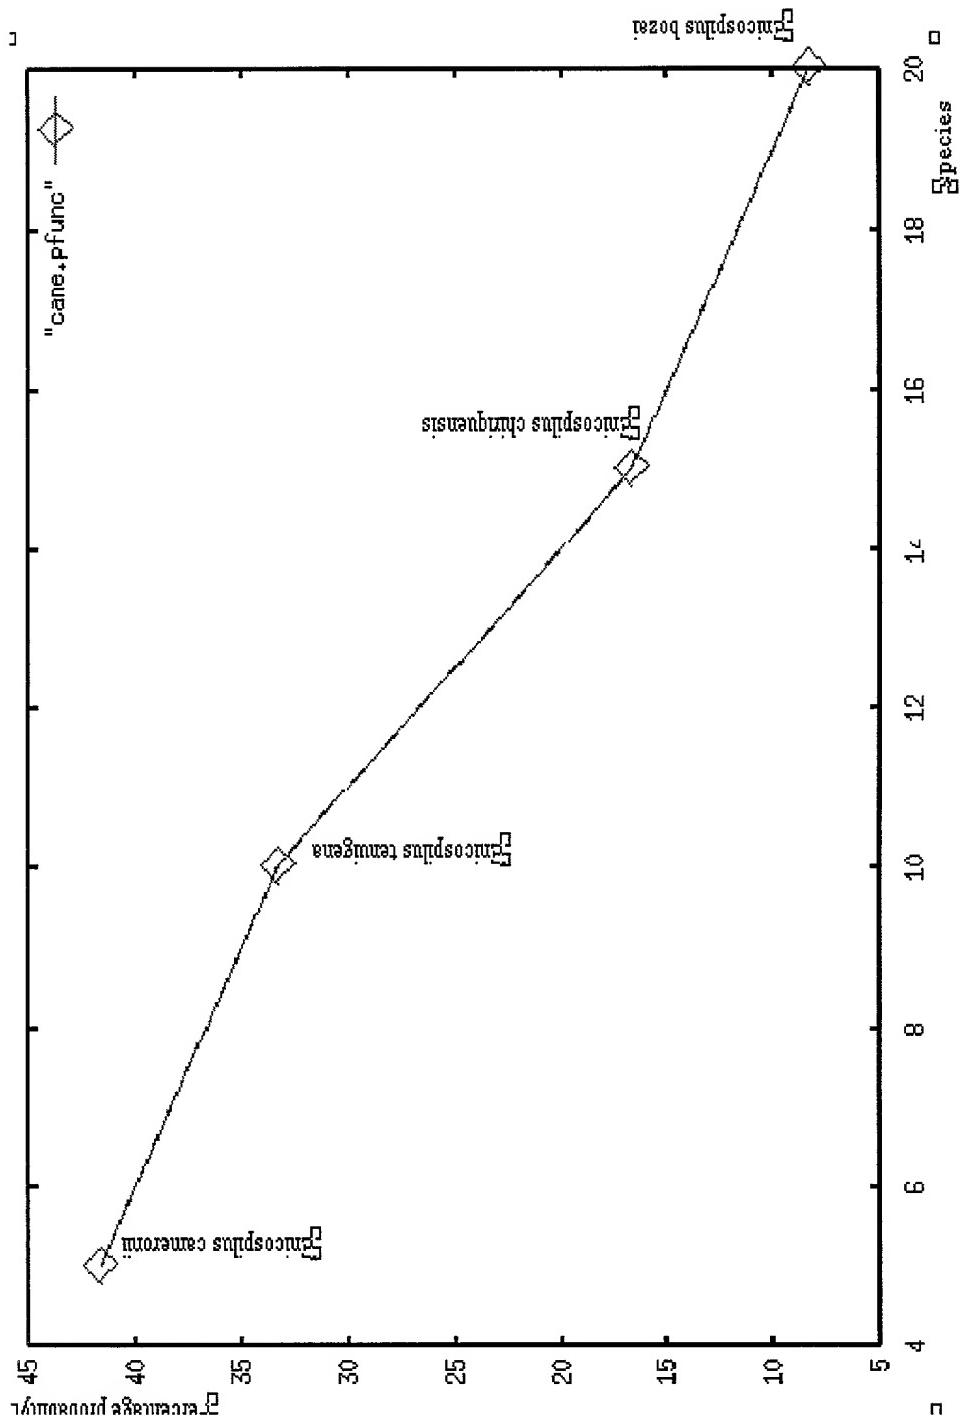

Figure 11